A team led and operated by women, empowering Mauritian women's economy in the fields of handicrafts, music and gastronomy.

Selected team formed by professional anthropologist and historians, genuinely interested for Mauritian people, culture and their stories behind.

Each of their tours leak economically to the local population and their small, traditional businesses.

Their cultural immersions demonstrate a social and commercial sense to preserving the cultural tangible and intangible heritage of Mauritius.

Offer typical Mauritian snacks with a meaningful explanation, encouraging appreciation of local gastronomy

Their immersions are closely related to Mauritian arts such as sega tipik, basketwork and traditional handmade trades.
